

Reminder: Invitation to Review Proposed University Learning Management Systems

The University Learning Management System (LMS) Task Force thanks those who have participated in the review of three new platforms (Blackboard Learn Ultra, Canvas and Brightspace) thus far. To be included in our recommendations for adoption to the President and the Board of Trustees, please submit all surveys by Monday, March 29.

As charged by President Repollet, the University LMS Task Force continued the work started by the University Senate. The Task Force membership includes two working groups — one primarily tasked with the LMS review and recommendations, and one tasked with instructional technology review and support recommendations.

To learn more about our work, please visit the LMS Task Force website. To participate in the review and offer feedback regarding the platforms in consideration, please visit our Getting Started page to request access to the LMS Sandbox Experience test environments. Additional resource materials are available on our website.

We look forward to receiving faculty, staff and student contributions to this very important work.
